

Late Arrivals Policy

Student success is OSU's foremost priority. With student success in mind, OSU adheres to the following late arrival policy for new international students arriving on or after the first day of the term.

New undergraduate students:

The last day to register is Day 2 of Week 1 of the Term, if you are admitted to the following colleges:

- College of Business, College of Engineering, and College of Science
- Please contact your academic advising office to obtain assistance in securing an advising appointment by the end of Day 2 of Week 1 of the Term.

The last day to register is Day 3 of Week 1 of the Term, if you are admitted to the following colleges:

- College of Agricultural Sciences, College of Earth, Ocean & Atmospheric Sciences, College of Forestry, College of Liberal Arts, College of Public Health & Human Sciences, and University Exploratory Studies Program
- Please contact your academic advising office to obtain assistance in securing an advising appointment by the end of Day 3 of Week 1 of the Term.

- If you are unable to arrive by the posted last registration date due to unforeseen circumstance, you must work directly with your college to receive an exception to arrive after the posted deadline. Please first email ois.student@oregonstate.edu to obtain assistance.
- You MUST resolve your immunization hold with Student Health Services, before visiting your academic advisor for class registration.
- Transfer students must bring hard copies of transcripts and course descriptions in English from previous schools to academic advising appointments.
- If you expect to arrive to OSU after Day 5 of Week 1, or have arrived after Day 5 of Week 1, you must contact Office of International Services \(OIS\) to discuss immigration implications and processes.

New graduate students:

Please contact the graduate school to inquire about the late arrival policy.
